County Commissioners Make Two Serious Mistakes

Tuesday Morning, November 23, 1943

IN VIEW OF THE FACT that like action is a settled custom on the Democratic side and that few stones are left unturned there to gain partisan advantage through partydominated state legislation, it was not unnatural that strenuous efforts should be made in county Republican quarters to retain control for the county commissioners of two of the positions involved in the new continuing assessment law. But it is the opinion of this Republican newspaper that the board of county commissioners has made a serious mistake in seeking to subvert the law by appointing only two assessors, instead of the four deemed necessary by competent authorities for the successful operation of the statute as it applies to

This is for the reason that, sooner or later, this attempt to get around the intent and wording of the statute will arise either in the courts or the legislature to piague the local authorities. Whatever one thinks of this state law, and its object of providing for a continuous assessment has been generally approved as something long direly needed, it is the law of the state and efforts to effect a subterfuge will not likely

It is the opinion of this newspaper that the contention of Commissioner Holmes and the county attorney, an able lawyer well versed in statutory subjects, to this effect is solidly grounded. The latter declared that the statute should be carried out as prescribed by the legislature within the spirit of the main objective of the continuous assessment program. It is difficult to see how the assessment work required for that in this large county can be carried out by only two assessors. In all likelihood it cannot be done, and thus more men will have to be engaged at an unnecessary additional cost to the county taxpayers. And it is equally difficult to perceive how the county commissioners can get away with any sort of subterfuge.

Another step taken by the county commissioner which this newspaper believes is not in consonance with general public sentiment is that by which a mild lowering of assessments of Washington street properties was rescinded. The contention that the reduction was made without consultation does not appear to be supported by the facts. But there is no denying that the assessments, carried over from the boom days prior to the depression when property values as measured with subsequent valua tions were high had become unjust and inequitable to the point of indecency. The purpose of the continuing assessment law, however unsatisfactory to some its mode of operation might appear, was primarily to provide a vehicle whereby outlandish property assessments should receive rational relief. This action by the Allegany county board of assessors appears to counter that worthy objective. As a matter of fact, this particular gesture represents about as rank a piece of demagogy as can be imagined.

Another Ordnance Plant Is Closing

Dane

CLOSING of the Allegany Ordnance Plant here and its conversion from the manufacture of small arms ammunition to synthetic tires has just found a parallel in the similar closing of the huge Lowell, Mass., ordnance plant of the Remington Arms Company, which has been making fifty-caliber shells for the army since April 2, 1942. This work is to cease by the last day of this year.

At the peak of production the plant employed 5,700 men and women, but the number has been reduced in recent weeks to about 3,500. The remaining working force will be reduced gradually during the coming month. As was the case here in Cumberland, there are two plants at Lowell, the Marginal street factory, where shells were made, covering four acres, and the South Lowell plant, where they were loaded, spreading over twenty acres.

The same reason obtains for the closing of the Lowell ordnance plant as that which obtained here. It is that the army has ammunition enough "for any crisis, however unexpected." Virtual elimination of the submarine menace and the greater effectiveness of incendiary bullets contributed to the cessation of operations. Officials explained that the army always allowed a margin of loss in transporting ammunition overseas, but that even with this allowance sufficient fifty-caliber shells are being sent overseas and are in reserve to eliminate the need for the Lowell plant

Cumberlanders can rejoice that this part of the war program "has been so effectively carried out and that they had a share in it. No plans have been announced as to conversion of the Lowell ordnance plant, so there can be an additional reason for local people to be glad that such plans are being effected here as this will eventually provide employment for about as many as were employed at the peak of operations at the local ordnance plant, and it is likely that this will be the case by the time peace comes and the unemployment

A Peace Guarantee That Is Essential

OF SIGNIFICANCE in connection with the efforts of Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press,* to have guarantees of freedom of the press included in the peace treaties, is a dispatch from Rio De Janeiro noting that Kent's proposal received praise in a column-long editorial in the Correio Damanha, a leading morning newspaper there, and that the liberal leading newspaper, Cairio Carioca, likewise had praised the proposal saying that "the thesis upheld by the American newspaper man is one which from the first wins gen eral support.

Cooper sturdily advocated inclusion of such guarantees in the Treaty of Versailles, but was unfortunately unsuccessful in his efforts. His renewal of the proposal now is. winning support all over this country. The annual meeting of the Chesapeake Association of the Associated Press just held at Baltimore took action upholding Cooper in this respect and unanimously pledged its support. That support is freely given in another nation of the Western Hemisphere at this time holds forth prospect of much stronger and wider backing than Cooper could obtain at the time of the last peace negotiations. In view of the history of international news controls set forth in Cooper's book Barriers Down the inclusion of such guarantees would by no means be superfluous and, indeed, would appear quite essential considering the main objectives for which this war is being waged.

Yes, Time Just Flits Along Now

TIME CERTAINLY does fly along these days what with the constant happenings in the various theaters of war and the continuing effort to help out the war program on the home front, the latter using up much of the opportunities normally afforded for study and contemplation.

There was, for example, the slip of the typewriter, or the mind, or whatever, the other day in this department when reference was made to the expectation that a studied build-up is being made for another O'Conor gubernatorial term. This was inadvertently noted as a "second O'Conor term." Why bless you, folks, the fellow has been running things over there at Annapolis on a two-term schedule and the grab for another term would be for a third term.

Of course, the second O'Conor term, which had its inception last year, involved rather dangerous forebodings for the incumbent and such a paring of the Democratic vote as may well give ground for expectation that there just won't be any third O'Conor term, whereof and whereat, considering the record, the people will have nothing for complaint

It's not the fault of any one man group of men. It's a system of long standing. While there is much to be said about the danger of inlammatory statements or premature publicity at moments of great tension or crisis, the fact remains that the statements made by Japan us and by the United States to Japan if published fully at the time of the exchanges might have made public opinion in both countries more conversant with the dangerous trends toward war.

Record is Impressive

Looking back over the record one cannot help but be impressed by Japanese bluntness and directness of the American policy which failed to take the American people into its confidence so that the proper steps either preventive of war or least preparatory to war might have been taken. Today American boys are dying in the equatorial ungles or are being sacrificed in a naval war in the Pacific in which the Japanese to date have had advantage in land bases and in naval strength all because the United States Navy was not built ip to proper size to cope with a war in the Pacific while at the same time assisting the British navy in the Atlantic

The Japanese told us bluntly in December, 1935, and again in 1936 vay in naval building and that the mous Washington naval limitation treaty of 1922 was not to be renewed. Japan refused to limit the caliber of her guns on big batleships and what's more she denied us access to the so-called manof the United States accepted in been revealed ple the significance of it. The secretary of state in a telegram to Ambassador Grew, presented to the Japanese government at Tokio, wrote on June 13, 1936:

Causes for Suspicion

"A strong undercurrent of suspicion and conjecture has existed for some time past over harbor developments or fortications in possessions which both Japan and the United States have in the Pacific. No objection to the visits of Japanese government vessels to the territorial waters and closed harbors of Alaska has been made by this government

"In our view it is unfortunate that the government of Japan so far has not adopted face of allegations that in the Japanese mandated islands of the Pacific improvements are being carried out which are irreconcilable with treaty obligations not to fortify

This followed by our request in July, 1936, to send the destroyer Alden to visit mandated ports, but the Japanese refused to answer our request for permission and evidently the matter ended there—the American government did nothing more about it so far as the record

Also, what steps did the secretary of the navy take in 1936 to advise Congress of the strategic weakness which was being developed for us by Japan's refusal to renew the armament limitation treaty of 1922? Would Japan have attacked us at Pearl Harnavy in the Philippines and sufshe fortified and today is using craft at Dutch and British bases gainst us in a vast area studded in the Far East? WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Since Moscow, Mr. Hull has mentioned only the pleasant things in agreement. Senators had planned to call him into a closed meeting of the Foreign Relations committee to ask the important questions in their minds, not in a spirit of criticism but in pure in-quisitiveness. Mr. Hull adroitly inclination by invited to address the joint open be in order

This blurred Paul Mallon outline of the peace and the new world may be maintained only a short time, perhaps less than a few weeks, before some additional details are offered. But not until the agreement is applied in action in specific cases is there likely to be a determination on the questions now far from the attention of the public, but naturally agitating all insiders including the negotiators-such matters are the relative influence of Anglo-American democracy and socialistcollectivism in Finland, Germany, Poland, the Balkans and even in France, Italy, indeed in China, and throughout the rest of the world in ### trade and policing. Goal Believed Set

Mr. Hull is not trying to be coy in avoiding these matters, and thus keeping them from the public eye. I have reason to believe he has set himself a goal beyond the expectations of freer-flowing international spouters today. He wants unity on foreign policy in this country, a unity which would remove it from the field of politics.

Any enduring peace-despite internationalists, Anglo-philes and phobes, and isolationists-must have national approbation. Senator Pepper and his extreme international ists his been complaining that the peace treaty would have to be ratified by two-thirds of the Senate, and they want to change the constitution for a simple majority of one. Any vast committment of this country to a new world, which is based on a majority alone, cannot possibly last. The ins always will go out sooner or later. A peace founded on a partisan majority can last only until the opposition gets into power. Indeed, such a short-temper ed and short-sighted decision would start an immediate public division and cause a continuous internal

Viewed as Candidate

This, I think, is Mr. Hull's strategy. Some Democratic leaders, whose names you know, have contrain races down the rails between sidered him to be the ideal administration candidate for the presidency-the only man who might hold together the varied elements of the party. They reached this conclusion long before Moscow, on the ground that people seem to have confidence in Hull. If he can get unity on foreign policy, a goal some may believe to be unattainable, he will certainly justify these expecta-

> Conversely if the Stalin-Churchill-Roosevelt meeting (promised by London dispatches) ventures along partisan lines or lets Europe fall into realms of struggle between such elements as Democrats. Communists, church and all the familiar conflicting ideological elements, large groups in this country will start protesting the Moscow agreement and they may become within a short time more unpopular than the Munich agreement which was also erroneously thought at the time to mean peace. You might have American Poles, Liths, Finns and who not shouting betraval of the freedoms promised in the Atlantic Charter. You could even have this session of both war of all anti-fascist elements houses, where no against fascism degrade into war questions would against communism-or democracy.

People have been cheering the Moscow agreements for one reason only. They showed a hope of democracy, empire and socialist-collectivism to live in the world peaceably together. In that hope this nation is unanimous. The development seemed less important to some of us, because we expected nothing else. Of course the three great postwar powers should live in agreement. Any other course would be stupid, is unthinkable. The question bigger than that one, is what kind of an agreement, what kind of a world?

Mr. Hull has brought us to this cross-roads, but the deciding factor of the road we will travel, and whether we will go in sensible unity as we should and must, is yet to be determined.

Doughboy Is Pitching Too From the Pittsburgh Press

The infantry soldier has been pretty much the forgotten man of this war. The flyer has captured the public imagination. Most of the young volunteers wish to pilot a fighter or ride a bomber. All of which is not to deride the flyers' heroism, or the magnificent job they are doing. But the infantryman is in there pitching, too. He's the man who eats dust and slogs through mud and rain, mile after mile till he's ready to drop. And he is the man who will one day fight his way through to the streets of Berlin and Tokyo

So it is good to know that Secretary of War Stimson has authorized two distinctive recognitions, the Expert Infantryman and Combat Infantryman badges, to honor "the case-hardened foot fighter capable of carrying combat into the enemy's teeth." His job isn't glamorous, but he is still a mighty important figure in any mah's army.

Former Red Tape Moves Farmers Against Subsidies

The vehement opposition by farmers against subsidies for crops is in large part another chicken come home to roost. The farmer knows, from experience in the recent past, that subsidies paid to him by the administration at Washington, have been accompanied by strict regulation of what he could raise, and how much he could market, with penalties put upon him for marketing more than the De partment of Agriculture said he could raise. Recalling that - i went on as recently as last year

-farmers may apprehend that the new form of subsidy now proposed may be accompanied by the same kind of regula-

Actually this seems not to be so The new subsidy - the mechanism for paying farmers a subsidy on milk for example-is simple and does not involve severe regulation. To get the new subsidy on milk, a farmer merely provides a record of the amount of milk he sold during a given period, as shown by his receipt from the buyer of his milk. This record the farmer takes to a local agent of AAA (Agriculture Adjustment Administration.) The agent okay's it and it is subsequently okay ed by a higher official. Thereafter the farmer gets his subsidy. Asidfrom going through this process, no stipulation is put upon the farmer as to how much milk he may produce nor other conditions.

Not Easy Before

Farmers, however, have not be come familiar with the present type of subsidy, and the comparative simplicity of it. But they remembe vividly what went on in connection with the previous type of subsidy which was designed to restrict pro

The previous type of subsidy, be gun when Vice-President Wallac was secretary of agriculture, was i practice as recently as the whea cotton and other crops of 1942. The process began with offering the farmer a subsidy. He could refuse the subsidy-and be free to plan what he wished, and free from other forms of regulation. But if farmers accepted the subsidy, difficultie descended upon them. If their plant ing exceeded the quota of acreage prescribed by AAA, they were penal ized on the excess. As to the excess they had to pay a penalty, which in the case of wheat was about one half the value. If they wished to escape the penalty they were given an option. They could store the excess until a future year, and deduct the amount from the acreage they were permitted to plant in the future year, Or, they could plow under the excess acreage, and this some farm as a way out of their difficulty, they were required to have their acreage resurveyed and pay the cost of the

Much Red Tape

The whole process was accompanied by intricate regulation and red tape which not all farmers comprehended. As one detail, no raiser of wheat could sell it, and no dealer could buy, unles the farmer produced a "marketing certificate" prescribed by AAA. The certificatewhich every producer had to show to the dealer to whom he offered his wheat-read: "To the buyer: You may purchase from the undersigned producer wheat owned by producer (s) on this farm as being wheat for which you have no liability for collecting or paying a marketing

That old form of subsidy, for reducing crops, was always disliked by many farmers. It was defended by AAA on the ground that no farmer was required to accept the subsidy; and also on the ground that the mechanism was not put into effect until after an election had been held of farmers who raised a given crop. But the system came to be disliked by farmers who voted against it, by farmers who did not vote at all, and even perhaps by some who voted in favor of it.

Different Type

It is the recollection of the old subsidy system that has caused much of the present opposition to a different type of subsidy, for a different purpose. (The present subsidy is designed to increase production-the former subsidy to reduce it.) It is the recollection of the former subsidy system that caused Congressman Wolcott, of Michigan to say that a subsidy is a "step to regimentation and control . . . which eventuates in the farmer finding himself under the yoke of bureaucracy, where free enterprise on the farm is destroyed; where the government . . . tells the farmer when and what to sow, when and how much he shall reap.'

If the present subsidy were brought forward as a new thing. dissociated from the memory of a former subisdy for a different purpose if the present subsidy were brought forward as what it is-a device to meet the emergency of war, a detail of a large program designed to prevent inflation-it would have escaped much of the opposition which has arisen against it among helps them take off faster, carry more bombs and fly farther!

Ask any bomber crew—they'll tell you how important quality is in the aviation fuel that powers their engines. For the higher the power—the quicker the take-off, the bigger the bomb load, the farther they can fly!

A Super Aviation Fuel Concentrate

Today high-powered aviation fuel flows from Sunoco refineries in larger quantities than ever before—largely because of Dynafuel, an exclusive development of Sunoco engineers and chemists.

Dynafuel is more than a gasoline. It is a super aviation fuel concentrate which is never used undiluted but is blended with gasolines produced by other methods in order to step-up their quality.

50% More Power Than U.S. Standard 100-Octane Test Fuel

Dynafuel contains a larger percentage of certain ingredients which have extraordinary power-producing qualities. That is why it actually tests 50% higher in power than U. S. standard 100-octane test fuel! The Dynafuel Process increases quantity, too-because it utilizes even those portions of the crude which formerly went only into low grade fuels.

A Triumph of Private Initiative

Dynafuel was developed by Sunoco without government aid or subsidy. The company risked its own capital, its own credit, in order to pay the huge costs of building the plants for its production.

It is through such free play of private initiative that all American progress has been achieved.

Better Motor Fuel for Post-War Cars

Today every drop of Dynafuel is reserved for military needs. But after the war, Sunoco's advanced processes and equipment will bring you far better fuels for tomorrow's improved automobiles and airplanes. SUN OIL COMPANY PHILADELPHIA

LEFT TO DIE!

THIS IS A CHILD OF EUROPE. She was left behind when our armies moved up last night and the Nazis retreated. There she lay, terror-stricken in the screaming confusion. Hurt and helpless. If an Army nurse hadn't found her and treated her with life-saving sulfa, she would have died.

TO MAKE these sulfa drugs, as well as gunpowder and other battle-field essentials . . . we need glycerine. We need it badly because our imports are cut down, our demands so very high. But you, the American housewife, can supply it, by saving every drop of used cooking fat. Save it in a can, not glass. Any sort of can will do. When the can's full, rush it to your meat dealer. It's needed desperately to make medicinals and the shells and bullets our men must have to fight this war to a finish sooner!

hanksgiving ... Let us always remember!

ALL OF US have much to be thankful for-first, let us always remember—we, and our children, are Americans—if we had nothing else—if we had none of the thousand and one little things of which every life is made to remember -just being an American is enough for real thanks giving.

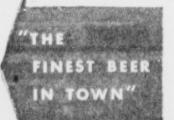

We thank you for your patronage — and wish you a Happy Thanksgiving.

These children and their mothers and fathers too are sitting on your doorstep. They are your Allies ... your responsibility. Only you can help them. ... Well, what are you going to do about it?

Here is perhaps the most effective thing you can do...!
You can give your dollars to our community's war fund and, through it, to the National War Fund. Through this great overall agency serving on all three fronts...the Military...United Nations and Home Fronts, your dollars go to seventeen participating war relief services who are joined with our own local welfare agencies in this united drive.

Some of your dollars will go to the USO to comfort and entertain our own soldiers.

Some will aid our allies...British, Chinese, Dutch, Greek, Poles, Russians, Norwegians, Belgians, French, and Yugoslavs. They will buy them food, shelter and medical care. Your money will support hospitals, nurseries and children's homes ...both abroad and at home.

Some will go to local welfare agencies and help care for those in need in your own community.

Some will lend a helping hand to our Merchant Marine.

Some will bring a bit of "home" to the barbed wire legion, the war prisoners of all nations.

Because the National War Fund and our community war fund have joined forces, you give only once...to all these war agencies listed below. They all share your gift—each in proportion to its need. So make it large...large enough to go around...LET YOUR HEART DECIDE HOW MUCH.

Two Fighters Are Suspended Indefinitely

Action Taken against Bee Bee Wright and Sammy Daniels

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22 (A)-Bee Bee Wright, flashy young Clairton monwealth today by the state athletic commission as a result of their fight here Thursday night being called a "no contest" by the referee.

Commissioner Matty Bain said the suspensions were "indefinite," and that neither boxer could apply for reinstatement before next Jan. Wright's purse of twenty-two and one-half percent amounted to $361.55 and Daniels' $281.20.

The referee, Fred Mastrean, testified he warned the contestants four times to fight before stopping the He said in his opinion the two negroes were not hitting each other as hard as they could.

The commissioner praised the referee for his action

Wright testified he was "putting out" his best efforts at all times, but after he floored Daniels for a no count in the first round the Baltimore boy went "into his shell."

Dr. Joseph Randall, Wright's manager, said he had instructed the young boxer to keep away from Daniels, a dangerous puncher unti an opening came. He said also he thought booing by the fans befuddled the boxers.

Ellis Friedler, Daniels' manager explained he was not here for the fight and asked the fighters be permitted to battle again for their held-up purses. Daniels told the commission he had forced the fight most of the way.

JOBS

looking for MEN

There are good jobs looking for men to fill themat a large shipyard near Baltimore. The chances are strong that among them is a job that you will like, where you will be helping to win the war.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE ADVANTAGES

OF TAKING A JOB AT THIS SHIPYARD

1. Pay Begins at $44 to $50 a Week. Initiative and skill can be expected to bring higher rewards, in a comparatively short time. Average pay at the yard is $75.95

2. No Experience Necessary. The things you need to know you learn quickly under our training program. And you get paid while you learn. Here's your chance to store up useful experience for postwar opportunities. Some shipyard jobs for which training is offered include: mold-loft worker, painter, riveter, rigger, shipfitter, machinist, layer out, pipe fitter.

3. Fine Low-Rent Housing for war workers is available

15 minutes from the yard, at rentals of only $34 to $40 per

It made little difference what defense West put up. Each of the two times he would have to lead would be sure to cost him a trick, cutting down his winners to four. He actually chose the club A as a choice of evils-a bad choice apparently, though it really did not matter. After that set up South's K, West led the 7 to it, setting up the 9 for South, who promptly used it to discard a diamond from dummy-though that didn't make any difference either.

After laying down the heart A, South put West in again with the K. West scored his spade A, to see what East would do, and then decided he had better score his diamond A. It was good he did, for if he had made any other lead, South would have had an extra trick, by dropping the last trump and using spades for discards of his two diamonds.
